

TRACE FORENSIC
EXPERTS

Volume 2 | October 2022

Top of Mind

Fall is officially here and it's all hands on deck at Trace Forensic Experts.

Perspective

We are seeing more complex cases cross our desks, each with its unique need for an expert witness. Expert witness testimony plays an important role in commercial litigation where there are economic damages. When litigating any matter involving economic damages, expert witness testimony can mean the difference between a win and a loss. When choosing your expert, consider the specific issues and areas requiring evidence to be provided, and seek out experts in those areas as early as possible. Seek out appropriately qualified experts who have outstanding communication skills. The expert witness must communicate complex concepts and numbers as simply as possible in both written and spoken testimony. Lastly, perform due diligence on prospective experts by speaking to colleagues and associates and by looking for exclusions of testimony on previous cases.

At Trace Forensic Experts, we pride ourselves on the experience and expertise of our expert witnesses. Our experts have a particularly strong presence in intellectual property and other complex commercial disputes, including breach of contract.

Upcoming Series on Economic Damages

We will be publishing a series of articles over the coming months on commercial litigation, economic damages, and the role of economic damages expert witnesses. We will also be hosting webcasts, doing presentations (offering CLE credit), and producing videos on these topics over the coming year. All will feature guest speakers from the legal profession. Let us know if you are interested in being featured as a guest speaker or panel member.

Advanced Data Analytics Services Update

We have a passion for Advanced Data Analytics (ADA) and use them in all of our work. We use proprietary ADA to accurately extract bank and credit card statements from PDF to spreadsheet format. The ADA use machine learning to automatically categorize spending categories and then depict the spend categories visually. Using ADA cuts down on people hours and helps us contain costs for our clients. While we use this methodology primarily in-house, we also provide this as a service to attorneys for their matters.

We are excited to expand our ADA Managed Services in the Life Sciences arena through our use and support of Verbotics AI™ software for the review of medical records. Verbotics AI™ accelerates and brings consistency to the review, improving quality while reducing costs.

Spotlight On Krishna Dornadula

Krishna Dornadula, our Advanced Data Analytics Expert, leads our ADA Services. Some of Krishna's key milestone achievements include developing proprietary ADA for document extraction; machine learning for text; using ADA in complex litigation matters; and developing dashboards, trackers, and spend analyses for legal operations, and ethics & compliance groups. Krishna is also an invaluable pillar of support for our economic damages experts as they prepare for depositions and trial. Prior to working with Trace Forensic Experts, Krishna was at a Big 4 auditing and consulting firm in Chicago, where his analytics ran the gamut of litigation support services.

We continue to welcome your ideas and comments to enhance Trace Forensic Experts' ability to meet the demands and needs of our clients.
